Fr. Ambrose's Requiem I write this from the Cathedral House in Newcastle to share with you about what has happened here so far. How proud all of us should be for the wonderful ceremonies that we put on for the Reception of the body, Mass on St. Peter and Paul's evening, and then our Requiem Mass on Thursday morning. Each one was a little jewel in its own right and a moment of God. These events show how God is working in and among us and let us continue to put our faith in God as Fr. Ambrose did so confidently right up to the last moments of his life. I only heard later that people clapped as Fr. Ambrose's body was leaving Broadfield in the hearse: I personally have never known that to happen except in St. Paul's outside the walls, when the very saintly Chiara Lubich was carried out of the basilica. At 7pm the coffin was carried into the cathedral here in Newcastle. I saw the beautiful white cross of flowers from all the Parishioners of St. Mary's. There is a huge photograph of Fr. Ambrose that all can see on a pillar at the front that makes him feel present. 40 or so priests concelebrated with the Bishop, and the aisle of the Cathedral was full. The Abbot, Canon Tony Griffiths and I were given places of honour and we were asked to pray parts of the Eucharistic prayer. The people prayed for Bishop Ambrose and his family, for the diocese he loved, but also for St. Mary's, Leyland but they realise that so many of us loved Fr. Ambrose who was not just our Pastor as Parish Priest and later as the retired Bishop, also our personal friend. Bishop Seamus Cunningham preached a well crafted sermon, emphasising Fr. Ambrose's extraordinary humility, kindness and constant encouragement of people. What struck me was the link that Bishop Seamus made with the great North Eastern Saints, St. Aidan, St. Bede, St. Cuthbert and others, he seemed to imply that Bishop Ambrose had continued in the same vein as his predecessors, perhaps emphasising this because Fr. Ambrose was also a monk and so much loved in the diocese.

After a beautiful Mass with excellent music - people then prayed quietly for 3/4 hour until compline.

Now the people are gathering in numbers for the Requiem that begins at 12noon. Archbishop Vincent Nichols, the Apostolic Nuncio and other Bishops will be present. This evening, Friday there will be a reception of the body at Ampleforth and then tomorrow, Saturday 2nd July at 11am the funeral mass and burial in the vault close to the Abbey Church.

May I thank all who did so much to get everything ready for the three liturgies at Leyland for Bishop Ambrose. This includes every aspect, preparation beforehand and all the hard work on the two days. May we all grow in our love as we continue our journey in faith after this unique experience we have lived.

As a legacy to Fr. Ambrose we will incorporate his name with the Newman fund in some way. If you wish to make a donation just Mark the envelope "Fr Ambrose" The funds motto is: LOCAL PEOPLE HELPING THE LOCAL COMMUNITY FOR THE LOCAL COMMUNITY. Please visit the website www.myleyland.co.uk and add your email as directed if you have not already done so, and ask others to do so.

New bidding prayer rotas are in the slot for those who write the bidding prayers. Many thanks to all who do so.

WORD OF LIFE

Stay awake and pray that you may not come into the time of trial; the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak. (Mt 26:41)

These are the words Jesus said, during his agony in the garden of Gethsemane, to Peter, James and John when he found them overcome by sleep. He had taken these disciples with him - the same three who had witnessed his transfiguration on Mount Tabor - to have them close at this very difficult moment. And he wanted them to prepare in prayer with him, since the events about to take place would be a terrible trial for them too.
